

DOVETAIL

MOUNT KARMA

Dovetail is a band of brothers. Fronted by singer/songwriter Philip Creamer and joined by brother and co-writer Daniel Creamer, the band is a family of creative free-spirits in pursuit of the high and lofty. Dovetail gives much credence to musical predecessors, and lives in a magic place of sonic discovery.

Dovetail's first full-length studio album, Mount Karma is an incredible 14 song journey that will surely captivate its listeners. The band clearly draws much of their musical inspiration from 60s era rock and roll, tapping into the simple yet dynamic arrangements and huge-sounding vocal productions of bands like The Beach Boys, The Byrds and Big Star. Still, the band is able to create a fresh and modern sound, with frontman Phillip's voice channeling the likes of Tom Chaplin of Keane, or at times, Matthew Bellamy of Muse.

As a testament to the band's tremendous songwriting capabilities, Dovetail holds the prestige of winning the 2012 John Lennon Song Writing Contest in the category of Rock Song Of The Year with their song "Julie."
